Freeman Donates Proceeds from New Book to EHC

L. Lee Maxwell
Trustee

A new family biography, Generations: Kemper Freeman Jr. and the Freeman Family by Robert Spector, chronicles the early days of contemporary life on the Eastside as it tells the story of downtown Bellevue's renowned retail industry. Freeman has morphed his father's mid-century suburban shopping center into a vibrant fusion of sophisticated shopping and dining, work and leisure, nightlife and luxury hotels called The Bellevue Collection and dubbed the pulse of the new northwest.

The book is a must-read for anyone drawn to the enigma of modern Bellevue. While it covers four very different individuals of the Freeman family, they share a common belief in the power of an idea and the potential of their beloved city of Bellevue, according to Spector. The large, hardcover, 230-page volume contains historic photos from the family collection and area heritage archives; and is written with respect for both the historic credibility and pioneer spirit of its story.

Freeman lived at Marymoor Farm as a boy, operated a custom haying business at age 16, ran the family radio station, was elected a state representative, owned a syndicated music company, and spent 14 years on the remake of Bellevue Square before giving birth to Kemper Development Company and its consummate product, The Bellevue Collection.

Significantly, the mind behind Bellevue retail is also known as the heart behind many Eastside civic institutions; and Freeman has dedicated a portion of the proceeds of book sales to the Eastside Heritage Center.

Generations is available for $42.00 (tax incl.), at www.EastsideHeritageCenter.org.

Historic Chairs

Carly Jo Jellyman
Curator

Even a folding chair can be an important piece of Eastside history. Sumi Akizuki recently donated two chairs which used to be in the Bellevue Kokaido Japanese Clubhouse. In 1930, the local Japanese community of approximately 300 residents built their clubhouse near 102nd Avenue and Northeast 10th Street. The clubhouse served as a meeting place for businesses, and was the location for Buddhist and Christian church services, classes, movies, plays and various community activities.

They are wooden and have the Japanese characters for Bellevue Japanese People's Clubhouse written on their backs.

These chairs are reminders of the large and vibrant early-Japanese community of farmers and businessmen that helped to shape Bellevue into what it is today; a community which almost disappeared and was never the same after the population's internment during WWII.

Donated by Sumi Akizuki.

The clubhouse has since closed but these chairs, which were there at the beginning, remain.

From the Executive Director

Heather Trescases
Executive Director

The move resulted in some programming adjustments for the EHC, but our ever-popular Fraser Cabin Heritage Programs will be back in full swing this summer.

Finally, I am pleased to announce that in April, EHC's Barb Williams won the Association of King County Historical Organization's Willard Jue Memorial Award. Barb was honored for her outstanding contributions, exceptional leadership, and excellence in duration, quality and spirit of service to the King County heritage community. Congratulations, Barb!

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce the next generation of Bellevue history and Eastside Heritage Center's newest member... Élise Jacqueline Trescases, born March 8th, 2008 at 7:27pm. These past few months have been filled with much joy in the Trescases household! And, we have certainly appreciated all the support from our extended EHC family. Little Élise is looking forward to meeting many of you in person at the Strawberry Festival on June 28th & 29th!

Elise Jacqueline Trescases

This spring, some of Bellevue's oldest history was on the move. The 1888 Fraser Cabin at Kelsey Creek Farm Park was moved from its site of over 30 years as part of the City of Bellevue's Kelsey Creek Stream Restoration Project. The cabin is now in a much more suitable environment - out of the wetland and up on the hill, next to the Duey Barns.

EHC Welcomes New Trustee

KAREN KLETT

Karen joined the Bellevue Historical Society in 1987, serving four years as president. In 1997, she established the Eastside Heritage Roundtable, which was a vehicle for communication between the numerous heritage organizations on the Eastside. From this increased communication, the plan to merge the Bellevue Historical Society and Marymoor Museum to form the Eastside Heritage Center was created.

Karen has also served eight years on the City of Bellevue Department of Parks & Community Services Park Board, serving as president in 1996. She created a Waterfront Acquisition Task Force which resulted in the purchase of 320 feet of waterfront on Meydenbauer Bay by the City of Bellevue for public parkland. She is past president of AKCHO and currently Volunteer Coordinator for the Eastside Heritage Center.

Karen Klett
Volunteer Coordinator

Volunteering is a team sport; no one can do it all, but everyone can do something! There are many ways to volunteer for the EHC including:

Collections and Data Entry Assistants.

These tasks are accomplished at the McDowell House by a small group of volunteers who regularly spend few hours a week doing these very focused and sometime routine jobs. Contributing as many as 15 – 20 hours a month each, Wenche Brinchmann, Lillian Garland and Lillian Ziegler help to make EHC a premier heritage organization. Their attention to detail and consistency are just two of the reasons the EHC TEAM is so successful.

Please consider joining the TEAM with a commitment of as little as four hours a month.

Contact EHC and get involved today.
